Director's Notes

It has been a very enjoyable experience directing UTBU (Unhealthy To Be Unpleasant) by James Kirkwood. This show, with all of its wacky and morose characters, gives the audience something that most play or even movies do not: justice to the ill-doers of society who are never caught and punished for their physical, mental, and emotional crimes against others. Their victims are often times family members and close friends whom they have abused. By the grace of this wonderfully talented cast, what you will see displayed is the serious but comedic outcome for the really nasty people of the world.

I am so proud of this cast and crew for all their hard work to bring this show to greatness. I wish to personally point out the illustrious works of: Debbie Love, my assistant director; Barb Mulligan, producer; cast members Mark & Larry for set construction when it was getting very tricky; Claire Acheson, Stage Manager; and Judy Moebeck for getting the music together and recorded for the show. Of course, thanks to everyone who worked on or donated things for the show, but my heart truly goes out to my very talented and deserving cast!

Last but certainly not least, thanks to you, our audience, for coming out to enjoy this funny, mysterious and clever little play. I hope you love it as much as we do!
